"J&B NIGHT SUPERMAN WAS BURIED IN BOOT HILL!"
 ON SALE THE LAST WEEK IN DECEMBER.

DRAGON BATTLES STUDENT OF BRUCE LEE!

MARTIAL ARTS MASTER FIGHTS FOR LIFE OF FRIEND

(Mongolia)—In New York City, Richard Dragon's friend Ben Turne lies dying of a 'deadly poison. In Mongolia, the Kung Fu Fighter has just witnessed the death of the man who created that poison—the Viper—and there is no way to get the cure!

Or is there? Dragon and Lady Shiva set out for a monastery to seek the aid of the O-Sensei, Dragon's teacher and the last hope for Ben. But, the insidious Dr. Moon and his minions have taken over the monastery and there's no way Dragon will leave alive. Moon has a new secret weapon—a human one—"The Man Who Studied With Bruce Lee!"

You'll see martial arts action like you've never seen before as Richard Dragon and Sing trade blow for blow. Denny O'Neil and Ric Estrada have gone all out on this one. So don't miss KUNG FU FIGHTER #14, on sale the week of December 6th.

DR TZIN-TZIN STEALS CHRISTMAS

(Gotham City)—'Tis the season to be jolly and all over the country, people are preparing for the Christmas season—except in Gotham City! It seems that everybody in Batman's home town, including Robin, has forgotten completely about the existence of the holiday ... and the only one who realizes it is the Caped Crusader himself!

The mastermind behind the "Mystery of Christmas Lost" is the nefarious Dr. Tzin-Tzin and you'll be able to see just how he pulls off this caper in the David V. Reed/Romeo Tanghal story in BATMAN #285, on sale the week of December 6th.

LOLA BARNETT'S
COMICSWORLD

Any dinosaur fans out there? We know there are plenty of you—so we'll be bringing you a very special DC SPECIAL wherein Captain Comet and Tommy Tomorrow join forces to battle a dinosaur invasion! ... Remember Deadman? He'll be back in action in an upcoming BRAVE & BOLD! ... Sergio Aragones, one of our maddest super-stars, gets to show off his stuff in his very own issue of DC SUPER-STARS, coming soon! ... Some real old-timers will be joining Batgirl as she flies solo in BATMAN FAMILY #10! ... And Wonder Woman, Green Arrow, Black Canary and Vigilante will all be solo-featured when WORLD'S FINEST goes super-sized in January. (Don't worry, fans—the Superman-Batman team-up will still be leading off the book!) ... That's all for now—see you next time! ... LOLA

TRIVIA QUIZ #31

Dr. Moon, who does battle with Richard Dragon in this month's KUNG FU FIGHTER, has previously battled two of our other DC Super-Stars. Do you know which ones? If not, you'll find the answers in next week's PLANET.

ANSWERS TO LAST WEEK'S QUIZ: Superboy met up with a young Batman, a youthful Green Arrow and a teen-age Aquaman.

DIRECT CURRENTS

ON SALE WEEK OF DEC 6th

JUSTICE LEAGUE #140—A super-length story featuring the return of the Manhunter in "No Man Escapes the Manhunter!" by Steve Englehart, Dick Dillin and Frank McLaughlin. KARATE KID #7—Karate Kid's landlady has been murdered—and guess who's been charged with the crime? Barry Jameson, Ric Estrada and Joe Staton have the answers! SUPERMAN #309—The mind-blowing conclusion to Superman's search for the truth about himself in "Blind Hero's Bluff" by Gerry Conway, Jose Luis Garcia Lopez and Frank Springer.

WEIRD WAR TALES #51—Paul Levitz and Nestor Redondo provide an intro page to three tales of weird warfare: "Secret Weapon" by Jack Oleck and Bill Draut; "A Canterbury Tail" by Levitz, Jack Harris, Marshall Rogers and Terry Austin; and "Project V" by Bob Rozakis, Draut and Bob Wiacek.

Dear Editor:

Action #464 was doubly deceiving. At first glance, the cover was quite attractive, especially the color scheme, and seemed to promise a much better story than has been seen in the last few issues. But upon closer observation of the first couple of pages, it appeared "Superman, I'm Going to Re-Run Your Life" was going to be a let-down, with another villain as colorless and corny as The Whirlcane. The Purple Pile-Driver?! C'mon, you guys can do better than that!

But to my surprise, after I read the whole story, I really enjoyed it! The issue had once again taken a change, this time for the better. The Pile-Driver proved to be only a minor diversion, while the real plot of re-running Batman and Flash's lives was mystifying. The relative lack of action was made up for by appearances of Superman's fellow Justice Leaguers. This intriguing introductory chapter promises an exciting and clever plot for Superman. I'm at a loss to comment further because I don't know what other plot twists are in store. But if they include guest-stars such as Flash and Batman, I'm sure I'll like them. I'm a sucker for cross-overs and team-ups.

Concerning The Private Life of Clark Kent ("See Metropolis with Clark Kent"): he really is boring, isn't he?

Mike Christiansen, 704 S. Third St., Rockford, Ill. 61108

(Te you, maybe. But if you knew him as well as we do, you'd find Clark's quite a guy. Under that meek exterior, there is a special something, as I'm sure Lois Lane would agree—E.N.B.)

Dear Editor:

"Superman, I'm Going to Re-Run Your Life" started off with a gross overstatement. You claimed Superman's punch could "shatter the earth into a zillion fragments." Come, come, now—aren't we carrying this a bit too far? How could such a small item as a fist destroy an entire planet?

The back feature was all right as back features go, but I would have liked to see a little less Superman and more Clark Kent. It's always fun to watch Clark handle a situation without ripping off his clothes and charging in as Superman.

But all in all, it was a good issue. Keep 'em coming.

Joe Schmitz, 7721 N. Links Way,
Milwaukee, Wis. 53217

(Can you imagine anything as small as an atom destroying an entire city? But it's possible! Truthfully, though, the statement was not quite correct. First, there's no such real number as a zillion. And second, it would probably take at least half a dozen punches for Superman to shatter Earth—E.N.B.)

Dear Mr. Bridwell:

The first episode of "Superman: I'm Going to Re-Run Your Life" is certainly an imagination-staggering mind-blower! First, let me congratulate Curt Swan and Tex Blaisdell on the dynamic, ultra-powerful splash page. And let me congratulate Gary Bates on the equally dynamic text blended into that splash page.

The story, events, characters are so skillfully blended that no praise can do it justice. Every page is thought-provoking and the enigma introduced on the last page is overwhelming. Who is behind this? Maybe a Phantom Zone villain, or the most mysterious arch-villain ever created by DC, The Calculator?! (Am I correct, or am I cracked?) And how could these events have come to pass. Batman and Flash now kids, living the lives of kids engulfed in events that paralleled their origins? And will Superman's origin be duplicated by an exploding planet and a child rocketed to Earth? With a story like this, I wish your mag was a weekly instead of a monthly. I can't wait for the next ish!

And I liked your backup story, Mr. Bridwell.

Bob Burros, 35-54 64 St., Woodside, N.Y. 11377

(Well, you picked the wrong villains this time. It was none other than old reliable Lex Luthor behind the plot. As Sherlock Holmes liked to point out, "Never overlook the obvious!"—E.N.B.)

Dear Editor:

"Superman, I'm Going to Re-Run Your Life" was quite a puzzling story to say the least. The Man of Steel was portrayed at his best in this issue and I loved it!

The Purple Pile-Driver? Yecch! What a name! Cary must have stayed up all night on that one. Seriously, though, I liked everything about the villain except his name. How about a rematch with a name change?

I can hardly wait to see the next issue! Why and how would anyone "re-run" a person's life? I think it's probably tied in with an alien plot. What would any super-villain hope to gain? You have a good story going.

The art was also great! Curt Swan is the Superman artist!

Also, this is the first time Supes appeared as himself in a Private Life of Clark Kent Story. Terrific!

Gregg Stamey Jr., 21 Hampton Hts.,
Canton, N.C. 28716

(So it was—though few fans noted it in their letters—and those who did were as divided on the subject as you and Joe Schmitz.—E. Nelson Bridwell)
